knows all things flour Ardent Mills.

Ardent Mills understands the negative impact that inconsistency in your end product can have on your brand and reputation. That's why we work hard to provide high-quality, consistent flours that you can count on to perform the same in every batch. Our specialized knowledge of all things flour helps to ensure that you get exactly what you need, when you need it.

Our collection of traditional flours is available with variations in protein levels, ash content, and more. What never varies, however, is the quality of our grains. Whatever you're making, we can partner with you to help you consistently deliver your best – whether that's a pillowy soft hot dog bun, a hand-formed artisan baguette that strikes the perfect balance between crisp and tender, or a pizza crust so thin and bubbly Naples will take note.

At Ardent Mills, we deliver all things flour for your traditional baking and cooking needs.

Brakebush is a value-added processor of great tasting chicken products. We've been US Family Owned and Operated since 1925, and for over 100 years, our sole focus has been chicken and how to craft it to exceed our customers' expectations. We have dedicated team members across five production facilities working to make the highest-quality chicken served in foodservice kitchens large and small, at national chains, and as industrial ingredients.

The Brakebush team of experts in production, food science, culinary, quality assurance, microbiology and transportation ensure that our products are innovative and safe and that only the best leaves our door and makes it to the menus of foodservice operators nationwide. Our customer service and direct national sales teams know that our relationship with you drives our business, meaning that every conversation is genuine, and your success is our success.
